MVHS Work Habits Talking Points

WHAT ARE WORK HABITS?
Throughout the year, teachers will monitor and assess the students’ work habits of collaboration, communication, creative problem solving, and self-agency. These practices measure a student’s ability to effectively communicate, creatively solve problems, contribute to his/her community, manage their learning, produce quality work, and responsibly use information.

The work habit rubric will inform parents of their child’s character, work ethic and day to day work habit behaviors as we work to develop the skills for college and career readiness. Work habit skills need to be taught to students before they are assessed on the work habit rubric.

WHAT PARENTS AND STUDENTS WILL SEE IN INFINITE CAMPUS
Scores are communicated separately on report cards and the final transcript for all courses at MVHS. Allowing you to know your son/daughter’s work habits (non-academic competencies from their academic achievement yet provide a consistent reporting guide.
