Helpful Information for Parents and Students following a Traumatic Event

Traumatic events are situations that may be sudden or unexpected, involve a shocking nature of events, and produce feelings of horror, terror, or helplessness.¹ Some examples of traumatic events may include:

- Physical, sexual or emotional abuse
- Neglect
- Witnessing or being the direct victim of interpersonal violence (domestic, dating violence)
- Witnessing or being the direct victim of community violence (gang violence, riots, school shootings)
- Severe motor vehicle and other accidents
- Medical trauma including sever injury or life threatening illness
- Natural and human-made disasters
- Sudden death of a loved one or peer
- Exposure to war terrorism or refuges conditions²

Research has shown that adolescents who encounter a traumatic event may experience social, emotional and even academic consequences as a result of the traumatic event. Adolescents experiencing a traumatic event may be more prone to engage in risky behaviors, less likely to make realistic evaluations of danger and safety, and may experience symptoms of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD).³ Children and youth may demonstrate one or many of the following post traumatic responses:

- Anxiety and/or Anger
- Suicidal Thoughts or Feelings
- Depression
- Substance Abuse
- Fear
- Frequent mood changes
- Truancy
- Fighting
- Impaired concentration and problem solving abilities
- Withdrawal from relationships
- Difficulty communicating
- Poor school performance

Safe2Tell Can Help

The goal of Safe2Tell is to intervene at the earliest possible point in the life of a young person who is struggling, helping them when they need it before the situation turns into a tragedy. Safe2Tell serves as the statewide bystander reporting tool for concerns in Colorado. The Safe2Tell solution was developed specifically to encourage those with information about a possible event or dangerous situation to report it in a way that keeps the reporter safe from retaliation or fear.
If you witness a child or youth who has experienced a traumatic event and is engaging in risky or harmful behavior, you can make an anonymous Safe2Tell report alerting a team of caring committed adults of the situation. Safe2Tell reports create interventions for youth and children who are struggling and provides the accountability and follow-up required to ensure action is taken on every concerned received.

To make a safe, anonymous report to Safe2Tell:

Call 1-877-542-7233
to make a report to a live, trained dispatcher 24 hours a day, 7 days a week or Visit www.safe2tell.org to submit a report online.
